

CHLOE DOLANDIS

A young voice with an old soul, dynamic entertainer Chloe Dolandis moves audiences with her powerful vocals and commanding stage presence. Her debut album, "Bring Back The Fever", penned by Dolandis and her writing team, offers a uniquely stylistic blend reminiscent of Michael Buble, Bette Midler and Aretha Franklin.

Onstage, Chloe's achievements include being a finalist in the Florida Grammy Showcase, a two-time national finalist in the National Society of Arts and Letters Musical Theatre Competition, and singing for Vice President Joe Biden. Her song, "Solid Woman", was selected as a semi-finalist in the International Songwriting Competition's Performance Category. And just after being crowned Boca Raton's first ever Rising Star, the city's mayor proclaimed January 13th "Chloe Dolandis Day" for her win, as well as her expansive community service efforts.

Chloe has performed alongside a broad spectrum of entertainers including jazz legends Ira Sullivan and Jesse Jones Jr., Grammy winners Billy Stritch and Zach Ziskin, comedian Jeff Dunham, and rapper Pitbull. No stranger to being behind a microphone, she has voiced numerous radio and TV spots for brands including Coca-Cola, UNICEF, the Miami Dolphins, the Miami Herald, and HBO Latin America. As a television personality Chloe has been most notably recognized for hosting Nickelodeon's Friday Night SlimeTime and SPLAT!

PRESS

"What a debut! This flawless disc should launch Dolandis and crew onto the global scene."
-- Keyboard Magazine

"Occasionally, we encounter performers who seem so confident about that voice that comes from very deep inside, they may not need a microphone. Pop, jazz and soul singer Chloe Dolandis is one of those singers."
-- CITY LINK

"Chloe Dolandis is developing the deserved reputation of a rising young jazz singer ...Bring Back the Fever is a solid debut."
-- The Palm Beach Post

"Chloe Dolandis is a rare talent. She truly delivers as a terrific young singer/songwriter offering her heart -felt gems with a maturity and sense of style well beyond her years. I predict she'll have a long and excitingly creative career. With such a strong and daring debut CD, I can't wait to see what she'll do next."
-- Ed Bell, WLRN FM

She is as distinctive in her look as she is in her vocal presentation - the mark of a true star."
